Designer's Note

At the beginning of 2011 I set myself the goal of creating a new dungeon map (done in the geomorph style) each and every week - and so it was that the Map-a-Monday project was born (as the maps originally appeared on the CSP Blog every Monday morning).

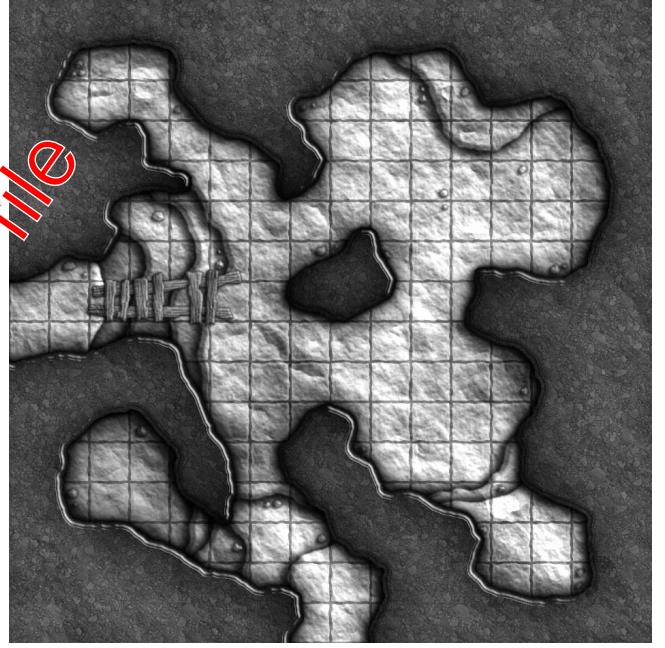

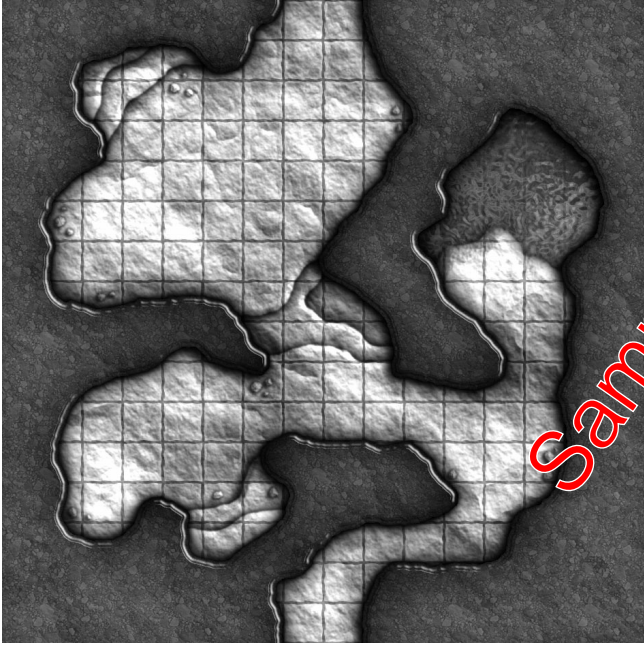

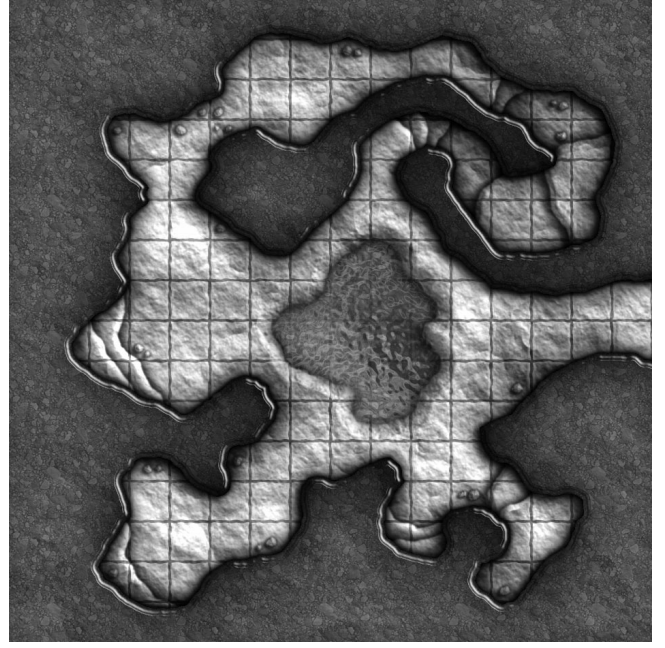

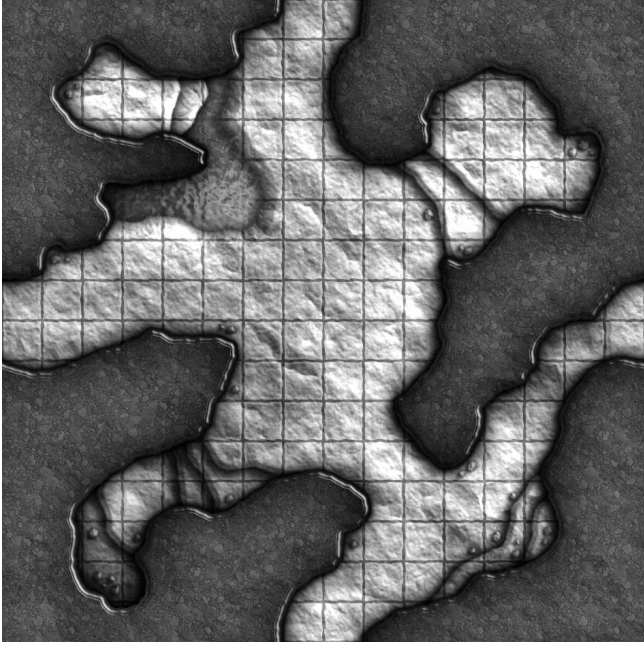

At the end of the year (when all 52 maps were completed) I went on to release a compilation booklet entitled The Little Book of Dungeons: Geomorphs - which featured all of the maps that were created during 2011, as well as several new maps that were exclusive to the booklet itself.

When 2012 came around, I chose to persevere with the project - however, this time I decided to leave the dungeon behind and concentrate my efforts on creating cave/cavern geomorphs.

As such The Little Book of Dungeons: Cave Geomorphs is the culmination of those efforts, and features all of the cave/cavern maps that appeared on the CSP blog throughout 2012, and also a selection of entirely new geomorphs that can only be found within this booklet.
